

TAS

A close-up photograph of a TAS industrial machine. The image features a vertical tool head with a metallic tip, positioned between two large, light-colored cylindrical components. The machine is constructed from various metal parts, including clamps and brackets, and is set against a dark background. The text "TAS" is overlaid in the center.